

Glaxo SmithKline

(Glaxo Wellcome & SmithKline Beecham) history
Corporations

Satanic is the only word that does justice to this outfit (see Lucifer symbol over Wellcome building, below), one example: After their Trivirex MMR vaccine was withdrawn as dangerous in Canada, in 1988, they managed to get it on the UK market with a government indemnity, under another name: [Pluserix (see MMR timeline). When that had to be withdrawn they then sold it to the third world (causing an outbreak of meningitis in Brazil), while they have done their best to suppress the fact it caused autism and bowel disease, along with the present MMR vaccines. Sir Nigel Davis, who dismissed the appeal over the removal of funding for the MMR litigation by the Legal Services Commission, was the brother of Lancet proprietor Crispin Davis who at the time had also recently become a non-executive director of Glaxo SmithKline. The Times group (whose CEO is James Murdoch, appointed in 2009 a non executive director with GlaxoSmithKline) through it's journalist Deer, is leading the attack on Dr Wakefield that culminated in the GMC Kangaroo court.

Of course the big poison in their history is AZT which they are still trying to kill Africans with. Recently caught suppressing adverse effects with Avandia. One psychiatric poison is Paxil/Seroxat. God willing, this one is going to crash and burn on its way down to hell . Sell your shares now. 😊]

Clinical Trials Involving Babies And Children In Institutional Settings, 1960/61, 1970 and 1973 211 children had been administered vaccines during three separate vaccine trials conducted on behalf of a drugs company, The Wellcome Foundation. More than 123 of these infants and toddlers were residents in children's homes in Dublin, Cork and the midlands when the trials took place in the 1960s and 1970s. Trial one involved 58 children in five children's homes in Dublin, Cork, Westmeath and Meath.

The trial investigated what would happen if four vaccines -- diphtheria, pertussis (also known as whooping cough), tetanus and polio -- were combined in one overall four-in-one shot. The trial was published in the 'British Medical Journal' in 1962. The final paragraph of it read: "We are indebted to the medical officers in charge of the children's homes. . . for permission to carry out this investigation on infants under their care." Trial two, which was conducted during the summer of 1970, saw 35 children administered with the intra-nasal rubella vaccine.

VRM: The Confidential Case-files of GlaxoSmithKline – Cover-up, Deferral & Denial of Vaccine-related Premature Deaths The following confidential case-files pertaining to the GlaxoSmithKline vaccine, Infanrix hexa™, were recently uncovered; a glaring exposé into Vaccine Industry malfeasance, which reveal the systemic cover-up, deferral & denial of responsibility for vaccine-related premature deaths (among infants) by vaccine manufacturing giant GlaxoSmithKline. Bare in mind, this startling evidence only represents the tip of the iceberg, given the fact that a mere 5-10% of vaccine related adverse reports are ever submitted by families – what is termed ‘underreporting’. [\[2012 Jan\] Premature Babies Used As Lab Rats In Manipulated Vaccine Trials By Christina England](#) To use these small vulnerable babies as little more than lab rats is bad enough but to then falsify the results to get the vaccines sanctioned to give to all premature babies is positively criminal. Not only that, but this was a trial of a GlaxoSmithKline product, funded by GlaxoSmithKline with the majority of the researchers researching the product actually having financial ties to GlaxoSmithKline. Unbelievable!!!!

[\[2011 June\] GlaxoSmithKline Schemes with GAVI to Offer Rotavirus Vaccine at Reduced Costs to Third World By Christina England](#) All very noble of them considering that Rotarix vaccine was suspended around the world last year because it contained the DNA from pigs in it. What GlaxoSmithKline are actually offering, are vaccines at a reduced price to the third world because the take up has been so low in the Western world due to reduced confidence in the vaccine.....What these people need from the governments around the world is massive injections of cash, better education and nutrition, not left over vaccines that the Western world have lost confidence in. This is no goodwill gesture but merely a cheap publicity stunt to make GlaxoSmithKline look altruistic.

[\[2011 Jan\] Controversy over vaccine trial files](#) PARTICIPANTS in controversial vaccine trials in mother-and-baby homes have been told by the Department of Health that it can't give them their medical files or any trial documentation as it is legally bound to return the files to the drugs company. ....Up to 211 children were given the test vaccines in Ireland in the 1960s and 1970s. Now adults, the participants say the drugs were given without parental consent and they have spent years trying to access their medical files and pharmaceutical information from that time. ...The committee wrote to Glaxo SmithKline seeking information on the trials. The company said the documentation contained sensitive personal information and they wouldn't hand it over without judicial order.

I believe that my evidence proves that GSK is financially influencing experts in attempts to change current medical practices and diagnostics in the early detection of cervical cancer. Details of high-level meetings between the prime Minister and top executives of Britain's most powerful companies will remain secret, the government has ruled, despite widespread concern about big business' privileged access to senior politicians.....The documents released reveal that Blair has met with the MCG every year since he was elected in 1997. Participants at the last meeting, in October 2004, included top executives from HSBC, Vodafone, Unilever, BP, the drinks giant Diageo, cigarette manufacturer British American Tobacco, and mining company Rio Tinto.

.....Last year, The Guardian newspaper revealed that the head of one of the world's largest tobacco companies, British American Tobacco, used an MCG meeting in March 2000 to put private pressure on the Prime Minister and the then trade secretary Stephen Byers.

BAT stood accused of facilitating large-scale tobacco smuggling, costing UK taxpayers hundreds of millions of pounds, and faced a possible public inquiry by the Department for Trade and Industry. But after the MCG meeting with Tony Blair and a second private meeting with Byers, plans for the inquiry were dropped and a DTI investigation was conducted in secret instead. The findings of that investigation have never been published, and the government turned down a second FOIA request from The Big Issue in the North for its release.
